LEE Yoonsang

Country/Region: Republic of Korea
Date of Birth: 28 NOV 2008
Event: Men's Changquan Combined (Changquan & Gunshu)

Korea's champion Yoonsang Lee began practicing wushu at the age of five at his father's gym, having developed an early interest in the sport by watching his father and older athletes train. His father remains his greatest inspiration. At the 8th World Junior Wushu Championships in 2022, he won a bronze medal in daoshu. He went on to win gold in daoshu at the 12th Asian Junior Wushu Championships in 2025, overcoming an injury to achieve his first international gold medal. His wushu hero is fellow Korean athlete Lee Hasung, whose confidence and outstanding performances inspire him to improve.

Competing at the Dakar 2026 Youth Olympic Games represents a historic milestone for Lee, as wushu makes its debut at the Youth Olympic Games. He says, "As wushu is being included in the Youth Olympic Games for the first time, I feel very proud to be one of the first athletes to compete in the sport at this level. On the Olympic stage, I hope to make both my name and the sport of wushu better known to people around the world. This will be my final competition as a high school athlete and the biggest stage I have experienced so far. Because of that, I have trained very hard and with great determination. This is not simply another international competition for me. I am very proud of my country, and simply being able to compete on the international stage with the Korean flag means a great deal to me. Since Africa is a distant and unfamiliar place for me, I am very curious about the local culture and environment. It is not somewhere I often have the opportunity to visit, so I would like to experience Dakar and learn more about Africa while I am there."
